   Prerequisite: ENGL 1101
   Description: Introduction to the broad discipline of African Diaspora Studies, including the political, sociological, economic, and psychological experience of blacks in America from slavery to the present.

   Rationale: This course provides students the foundation necessary for the pursuit of an African American Studies minor. As is consistent with the interdisciplinary nature of African American Studies, the course will explore the Black experience from several perspectives: history, politics, economics, sociology, psychology, religion, the arts, and education.

   Effective Term: Spring 2006

   CURCAT:
   Major Department: Arts and Sciences
   Can the course be repeated for additional credit: no
   Maximum Number of Credit Hours: 3
2. A motion was made, seconded, and approved to accept the following:
Create the following course:
AFAS 4000 Independent Study in African American Studies 3-0-3
Prerequisite: AFAS 1000 and the permission of the Coordinator of African American Studies and instructor
Description: An in-depth, closely supervised, instructor-approved study in the interdisciplinary areas associated with the African American Studies minor on a topic with African American emphasis.

Rationale: This course will allow students the opportunity to supplement his or her primary focus within the minor on a particular subject they may not have been covered in-depth with the current course offerings.

Effective Term: Spring 2006

CURCAT:
Major Department: Arts and Sciences
Can the course be repeated for additional credit: no
Maximum Number of Credit Hours: 3
Grading Mode: Normal
Instruction Type: Lecture

3. A motion was made, seconded, and approved to accept the following:
Create the following course:
AFAS 5000U Topics in African American Studies 3-0-3
Prerequisite: AFAS 2000 and the permission of the Coordinator of African American Studies.
Description: Special topics in African American Studies. Will be crosslisted with selected upper-level courses in the university curriculum when content of those courses address issues related to African American Studies. May be repeated for credit with different topics.

Rationale: This course allows undergraduate students more options in fulfilling the minor requirement because it is cross-listed with upper-level university courses that might address issues relevant to African American Studies. As a graduate course, it provides additional course options for MALPS students on the International Studies track since the course content may at anytime address international/global issues.

Effective Term: Spring 2006
A motion was made, seconded, and approved to accept the following:
Create the following minor:
African American Studies .............................................18 hours
   AFAS 2000* - Introduction to African American Studies
   Must include 9 hours of course work numbered 3000 or above with no more than 6 hours from a single discipline and at least 6 hours from each of the following areas of concentration:
   Humanities:
      AFAS 4000* - Independent Study in African American Studies
      AFAS 5000U/G* - Topics in African American Studies
      ENGL 2050 - Africa and the Diaspora
      ENGL 5350U - African American Literature
      HIST 2100 - The African Diaspora
      HIST 3150 - History of Africa
      HIST 3900 - African-American History To 1865
      HIST 3910 - African-American History Since 1865
      HIST 5200U - Topics in African History
      HIST 5650U - Topics in African-American History
      MUSC 2010 - Understanding Jazz
   Social Sciences:
      AFAS 4000* - Independent Study in African American Studies
      AFAS 5000U* - Topics in African American Studies

      POLS 5560U - Comparative Foreign Policy
      PUBH 5570U - Women and Minority Health Issues
      SOCI 3200 - Racial and Ethnic Minorities

Rationale: The purpose of African American Studies is to allow students of any ethnic background to recognize and understand the important role African Americans have played in defining and developing American society, to address the implications of being “black” in America, and to experience the artistic endeavors put forth by those of African descent. Its interdisciplinary focus explores areas such as history, literature, politics, religion, the arts, and education as they relate to the African American experience.
An African American Studies minor further helps students to successfully pursue graduate research or professional work in Social Work, Education, Law, Criminal Justice, Medicine, Business, and the Arts, all areas that serve African Americans. All in all, the minor makes students more “multiculturally” aware, thus poised to affect positive change in American society.

Why an African American Studies Minor at Armstrong?

- AASU has a 22% African American student population
- As an urban university in a city where the African American population is over 50%, it should conscientiously address the issues that this population faces.
- AASU is located in Georgia where many earlier enslaved Africans made significant political, economic, and social contributions; it would behoove us to help students recognize those contributions.

Structure of the Minor
This minor will consist of 18 hours of course work. Students will be required to complete each class with a C or better.

Effective Term: Spring 2006
